

Case study:

Modernising accounting systems with a seamless move to Xero for Anglian Plant Limited

The project:

We worked with Anglian Plant Limited to review its use of Sage and identify ways its accounting systems could better support a high-volume business.

Following a detailed review, we recommended Xero and its associated APIs to improve efficiency, introduce automation, and provide real-time financial insight.

Working closely with the team, we delivered a smooth migration with minimal disruption to day-to-day operations. We also implemented Dext to create a structured invoice processing and approval workflow, improving controls, increasing visibility, and reducing manual processing.

In addition, we integrated Xero with Syrnix, streamlining data flow between systems and reducing duplicate data entry.

The result was a seamless transition that reduced administration, saved time across the accounts function, and delivered greater visibility and control over financial information.

Our role:

- Review existing accounting systems and identify inefficiencies
- Recommend suitable modern cloud-based solutions
- Plan and manage the full migration process
- Migrate historical financial data accurately and securely
- Implement Dext, including setting up invoice capture and approval workflows
- Support the integration of Syrnix with Xero
- Provide hands-on support throughout the transition
- Deliver ongoing guidance to optimise system use

Key highlight:

Our review of Anglian Plant Limited's accounting processes led to a move from Sage to Xero, supported by Dext, delivering a scalable solution that improved efficiency, enhanced visibility, and streamlined financial operations.

What our people and clients have to say:

Adam Sinclair, Digital Champion at Larking Gowen, said:

"It's been a pleasure working closely with Anglian Plant throughout this journey. While change can feel challenging after many years, their team were engaged, collaborative, and open to new ways of working. Their approach made the migration smooth, successful, and truly rewarding to support."

Joe Paterson, Managing Director at Anglian Plant Limited, said:

"Having been a Sage user for over 10 years, we were long overdue a review of our accounting systems. After engaging Larking Gowen, we chose to switch to Xero and couldn't be happier with the result. Their team ensured a smooth transition despite our high transaction volumes, delivering a seamless migration that has saved us significant time and given us far greater visibility across our accounts. We wouldn't hesitate to recommend them to any business looking to modernise their systems."
