Services to tourism and leisure

What we offer

We understand the impact that seasonality and/or managing staffing levels can have on your business.

Our team of specialists offer you:

- Proactive business advice
- Support and constructive assistance in all areas
- Information on latest trends and sector specific issues
- A practical approach to understanding the regulations

Tailored to your needs

No two enterprises are the same, so we'll look at your business on an individual basis.

You'll have a named partner or director and a named client manager to speak to at any time. In addition, we'll also be taking the initiative and getting in touch over any issues we think will affect you.

About us

Larking Gowen is a major regional independent firm of accountants and one of the UK's top 40 accountancy firms. You will find that we offer a structured service, so that you deal with a small team that builds up a close working relationship with you and acquires a detailed knowledge of your affairs.

We take a practical and commercial approach when advising our clients. We recognise that, like you, we live in the real world of business where the first wish is to operate effectively and profitably.

"Tourism and leisure are key industries in East Anglia's economy.

With our in-depth knowledge, we'll identify the market areas where you can improve your profit margins, grow your business and maximise your earning potential."
