

Case study: TauRho Transcribes Limited

We advised the shareholder of TauRho Transcribes Limited, on the sale to The Wolfestone Group, an international language solutions provider.

The deal

Founded in 2016, TauRho Transcribes Limited is a UK-based translation and transcription agency specialising in human-led transcription services across a number of industries. Larking Gowen brokered the sale to The Wolfestone Group, an international language solutions provider based in Swansea, Wales.

Our role

- Identifying and confidentially approaching potential buyers
- Preparing sales documentation
- Deal negotiations
- Coordinating due diligence enquiries
- Advising on financial and taxation aspects of the legal contracts
- Proactive deal management throughout

Client:

TauRho Transcribes Limited

Industry sector:

Translation and Transcription

Transaction:

Business sale

Key highlight:

We were able to quickly and confidentially take the business to market, attracting interest from multiple trade buyers.

Comments

Harrison Pardoe, Shareholder and Director of TauRho Transcribes Limited, said:

"Larking Gowen's efficiency and effectiveness in managing the sale process was impressive. Selling a business can be a stressful time, but Larking Gowen provided exceptional support and guidance throughout the whole process. They were always available to address my concerns and keep me informed – a comfort blanket throughout."

Hannah Rutherford, Corporate Transactions Manager, said:

"It has been a pleasure working with Harrison on the sale of the business. The transaction was driven by a strong strategic fit between the two businesses, and it's exciting to see TauRho enter its next chapter as part of a larger group. I wish Harrison every success in his other business ventures."